History Repeating Itself In Two-Year-Old Racing With New Star Each Week

EACH week of the early racing season sees a new champion of two-year-olds partially crowned. It is always this way year in and year out. But sometimes it remains for mid-season or even Saratoga to produce one which stands head and shoulders over all which have gone before, through the spring and sum-

The same state of affairs promises to exist this year, although it is too early to arrive at definite conclusions. So far, however, there have been at least three two-year-olds seen under colors which have been pronounced wonders at different times. The first of these was Cinderella which after two races, was proclaimed a speed marvel. She had all a champion needs; guick footedness at the barrier, an ability to break fast and win from those ahe met up to that time in a gallop. Betty J's two winning performances after being beaten in such hollow fashion by Cinderella seemed to strengthen the latter's when we suggested to Hogan when we want the two the two desired to the two the two the two the two desired to the two the two desired to the two championship claims, or rather the

What happened to Cinderella just when she was supposed to have reached the pinnacle of jouvenile greatness? She met Bonnie Mary, P.
A. Clark's filly in the fashion stakes and was ignominiously tow-roped, along with some other supposedly high-class filles. Then it was Bonnie Mary about which the esperts and racing followers in general raved. racing followers in general raved. Just about the time that everybody was convinced that Bonnie Mary was the star among the youngsters. Jihmy Rowe appeared on the racing scene with one of the products of Whitney's Brookdale farm. Even though Rowe was supposed to have said that if Upset didn't win his first start he was going right back to his Jersey home, the public had to be shown. The public was shown alright. When we suggested to Hogan afterward that perhaps he had the champion of the year in Bonnie Mary, he just smiled his usual smile and drew his right hand over his mouth. "There may be some sleepers which haven't been seen yet," we said. "Yes," and this time Hogan seemed willing to discuss the subject. "There may be," he said, "and they'll sleep well after chasing her, too."

That's all Hogan would admit. Confidence in anything he trains is a trait of his. He may be right in his opinion just now, but Futurity day is a long way off.

The big feature of the coming week at Belmont is the Suburban Handicap to be run next Saturday. This doesn't mean that there will be nothing of an extraordinary nature intervening, because there will be, according to the book programme of the meeting. The Suburban, however, a feature since 1884, is really one of the classics of the American turf. This year there are fifty-one eligibles, including all the stars of the three-year-old division, as well as those of the handicap class. Among them are such as Eternal, Cudgel, Motor Cop, George Smith, Johren, last year's winner, Vindex, Trompe La Mort, Lanius, Corn Tassel, Purchase and Exterminator.

Jockey Taplin gets "down in front" almost as often as any other rider, but he usually does so after giving his backers a series of shocks. Saturday, for instance, he should have won all by himself on Arrah-Go-On. He was breezing to Vague in the last quarter of a mile and allowed himself in doing so to be carried over to the rail and almost pinched off by Troxier on Vague. At a very critical moment he had to take up sharply at the cost of some ground or pull out from behind Vague to get racing room. When he did he had to sit down and ride like a demon to win the race. Instead of coming on when he can, like Lofting upually does. Taplin tiers. stead of coming on when he can, like Loftus usually does. Taplin tries to give the crowd extra thrills it seems.

Baker has declined invitations to race this summer in England, Scotland and Sweden.
